

QuantumSphere Inc.

CORPORATE PROFILE

For the thousands of highly inefficient chemical plants in operation today, producing nearly five hundred billion dollars of Ammonia, Methanol, and other basic chemicals annually, QuantumSphere (QSI) has leveraged a patented process to develop a high-performance catalyst accelerator technology which can significantly improve process efficiencies and production output - resulting in greater revenue and profits for industrial chemical plants.

QSI's enhanced catalyst technology can be seamlessly integrated with no plant modifications and offers a value proposition that could be worth billions to chemical plant owners and operators, globally. QSI's lead chemical focus is ammonia, which is critical to the global food supply. The company was founded in 2003 and is based in Santa Ana, California.
